```
index.jsp
                                                                                  class index_jsp extends .....
<%!
     java.util.Date d = null;
String date =null;
                                             declarative tag
                                                                                        java.util.Date d = null;
String date =null;
%>
<%
     d = new java.util.Date();
date = d.toString();
                                               scriptlet tag
                                                                                      public void _jspService(reqeust, response) throws SE,IOE
%>
                                                                                          d = new java.util.Date();
date = d.toString();
<html>
     <head><title>Output</title></head>
<body bgcolor='lightyellow'>
                                                                                           out.write("<html><head>..."); <center>
                 out.print(date);

                                                                       Expression tag out.write("</html>");
                          Today date is <%= date%>

                 </center>
     </body>
</html>
```

